Optional Flexible School Day Program

The Texas Education Agency offers school districts the opportunity to offer a program that will offer flexible hours and days of attendance for a student who:

- Has dropped out of school,
- Is at risk of dropping out, or
- Will be denied credit for one or more classes in which the student has been enrolled as a result of attendance requirements under the Texas Education Code (TEC) §25.092.

Program Goals

- Improve graduation rates
- Reduce dropout rate

- The OFSDP will help improve graduation rates and reduce the dropout rate.

Optional Flexible School Day Program

- Students participating in an optional flexible school day program may attend school on a fixed or flexible schedule that does not meet the traditional 180-day, 5 days-per-week requirement.
- It provides an alternate method of attendance accounting.
- A student must receive instruction in the optional flexible school day program for at least 45 minutes on a given day for instructional contact time to be recorded.
- Students must take STAAR during the regularly scheduled assessment calendar.
- A student enrolled in this type of program may participate in UIL if they meet UIL eligibility criteria.

- Students who are not able to attend school during the day are provided the opportunity to participate in the Optional Flexible School Day Program after school from 4:00-6:00 p.m. and on Saturday morning from 8:00-12:00 noon.
- Teen parents who work full-time benefit from this program.
- The students meet with their counselor to set up a schedule that best serves their need. Students do not have to attend school every day, but staff recommends that they attend for at least 2 hours.
- Students are required to take the STAAR exam.
- The District receives credit for the number of minutes that students attend school and the District is not penalized for the absences. Staff must keep a detailed record of the minutes attended by each student.

Application Process

- The district must submit an annual application to Texas Education Agency (TEA) and request approval for participation.
- A public hearing must be held to discuss the proposed program.
- If approved by the school board, then an application will be submitted to TEA.

- The Optional Flexible School Day Program will be presented for board approval at the next school board meeting.
